

90) Use of Microarray Technology for Determining Gene Expression Signatures for Different Disease States: 2003

It is widely accepted that genes and their products function in a complicated and orchestrated way to create the diversity of life within a given living organism...